Instructions for Authors

- The journal GENERO publishes original theoretical and scientific papers from the fields of feminist theory, gender studies, women's studies, theory of culture and cultural studies, with an emphasis on interdisciplinary and critical approach.
- Works previously published, or submitted for publication elsewhere, shall not be considered for publication in Genero.
- If a work has been orally presented at a scientific conference (under the same, or similar title), this data should be indicated in the title-related footnote.
- Articles are double blind peer reviewed. In order to be published, each scientific paper must receive two positive blind review.
- The list of referees/reviewers appears on the website and at the end of each print issue.
- The journal GENERO is issued once a year.
- The works are published in the Serbian/Croatian/Bosnian language, in the Latin alphabet, or in English. The recommended length is 18 000 to 40 000 characters (with spaces).
- A scientific article/paper should contain the following elements:
  - Name and surname of the author (Times New Roman bold, 12)

    - Text (Font – Times New Roman 12, spacing 1.5; up to 3000 words including footnotes and literature)

- Footnotes' format is Times New Roman 11.

- In the Literature, references published in Serbian/Croatian/Bosnian language are quoted in the Latin alphabet. All other references are quoted in their original alphabet. The sources are listed in alphabetical order, at the end of the work.

- All the papers submitted to the journal GENERO should be written according to The Chicago Manual of Style – CMS – Author-Date Style https://www.chicagomanualofstyle.org/tools_citationguide/citation-guide-2.html

  Author-Date Style uses in-text citations. The Chicago style, when referring to a source of information within the text of a document, in its simplest form, gives a short citation consisting of the name of the author (or authors) and the date of publication:
    - The short references within the text are given wholly or partly in round brackets.
    - Use only the surname of the author followed by the year of publication. Include page, chapter, section or paragraph numbers if you need to be specific. A comma is placed between the year of publication and the page, chapter, section or paragraph numbers.
    - No distinction is made between books, journal articles, internet documents or other formats except for electronic documents that do not provide page numbers. In this instance, use the paragraph number, if available, with the abbreviation par.
    - Example: (Haraway 1991, 37) or (Ridgeway and Correll 2004, 102)
    - If the quoted source have more than two author, in the text, only first author surname should appear followed with et al. Example: (Ceton et al. 2012, 150)

- LITERATURE should also follow the Chicago Manual of Style (Author-Date Style). It is written at the end of the paper in alphabetical order.

> - Differentiate works by the same author in the same year by adding 'a', 'b', 'c', etc. Use 'a' for the first entry in the Literature list, 'b' for the second, etc.
